The Wisdom Of Solomon 1:1

THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON.

Love righteousness, ye that be judges of the earth,
Think ye of the Lord * with a good mind,
And in singleness of heart seek ye him;

Because he is found of them that tempt him not,
And is manifested to them that do not distrust him.

For crooked thoughts separate from God;
And the supreme Power, when it is brought to the proof, †
putteth to confusion the foolish:

Because wisdom will not enter into a soul that deviseth evil,
Nor dwell in a body that is held in pledge by sin.

For a holy spirit of discipline will flee deceit.
And will start away from thoughts that are without understanding,
And will be ‡ put to confusion when unrighteousness hath come in.

For § wisdom is a spirit that loveth man,
And she will not hold a  blasphemer guiltless for his lips;
Because God beareth witness of his reins,
And is a true overseer of his heart,
And a hearer of his tongue:

Because the spirit of the Lord hath filled †† the world,
And that which holdeth all things together hath knowledge of every voice.

Therefore no man that uttereth unrighteous things shall be unseen;

Or, reviler †† 1:7 Gr. the inhabited earth.
Neither shall Justice, when it convicteth, pass him by.
9 For in the midst of his counsels the ungodly shall be searched out;
And the sound of his words shall come unto the Lord
To bring to conviction his lawless deeds:
10 Because there is an ear of jealousy that listeneth to all things,
And the noise of murmurings is not hid.
11 Beware then of unprofitable murmuring,
And refrain your tongue from backbiting;
Because no secret utterance shall go on its way void,
And a mouth that belieth destroyeth a soul.
12 Court not death in the error of your life;
Neither draw upon yourselves destruction by the works of your hands:
13 Because God made not death;
Neither delighteth he when the living perish:
14 For he created all things that they might have being:
And the generative powers of the world are wholesome,
And there is no poison of destruction in them:
Nor hath Hades royal dominion upon earth,
15 For righteousness is immortal:
16 But ungodly men by their hands and their words called death unto them:
Deeming him a friend they consumed away,
And they made a covenant with him,
Because they are worthy to be of his portion.
For they said * within themselves, reasoning not aright, Short and sorrowful is our life; And there is no healing when a man cometh to his end, And none was ever known that † gave release from Hades. Because by mere chance were we born, And hereafter we shall be as though we had never been: Because the breath in our nostrils is smoke, And ‡ while our heart beateth reason is a spark, Which being extinguished, the body shall be turned into ashes, And the spirit shall be dispersed as thin air; And our name shall be forgotten in time, And no man shall remember our works; And our life shall pass away as the traces of a cloud, And shall be scattered as is a mist, When it is chased by the beams of the sun, And § overcome by the heat thereof. For our alloted time is the passing of a shadow, And  our end retreateth not; Because it is fast sealed, and none †† turneth it back. Come therefore and let us enjoy the good things ‡‡ that now are; And let us use the creation §§ with all our soul  as youth’s possession. Let us fill ourselves with costly wine and perfumes; And let no flower of ††† spring pass us by:

8 Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds, before they be withered:
9 Let none of us go without his share in our proud revelry:
   Everywhere let us leave tokens of our mirth:
   Because this is our portion, and our lot is this.
10 Let us oppress the righteous poor;
    Let us not spare the widow,
    Nor reverence the hairs of the old man gray for length of years.
11 But let our strength be to us a law of righteousness;
    For that which is weak is found to be of no service.
12 But let us lie in wait for the righteous man,
    Because he is of disservice to us,
    And is contrary to our works,
    And upbraideth us with sins against the law,
    And layeth to our charge sins against our discipline.
13 He professeth to have knowledge of God,
    And nameth himself servant of the Lord.
14 He became to us a reproof of our thoughts.
15 He is grievous unto us even to behold,
    Because his life is unlike other men’s,
    And his paths are of strange fashion.
16 We were accounted of him as base metal,
    And he abstaineth from our ways as from uncleannesses.
    The latter end of the righteous he calleth happy;
    And he vaunteth that God is his father.
17 Let us see if his words be true,
    And let us try what shall befall in the ending of his life.
18 For if the righteous man is God’s son, he will uphold him,
    And he will deliver him out of the hand of his adversaries.
19 With outrage and torture let us put him to the test,

21 Thus reasoned they, and they were led astray;
For their ‡ wickedness blinded them,
22 And they knew not the mysteries of God,
Neither hoped they for wages of holiness,
Nor did they judge that there is a prize for blameless souls.
23 Because God created man for incorruption,
And made him an image of his own § proper being;
24 But by the envy of the devil death entered into the world,
And they that are of his portion make trial thereof.

3 1 But the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God,
And no torment shall touch them.
2 In the eyes of the foolish they seemed to have died;
And their departure was accounted to be their hurt,
3 And their journeying away from us to be their ruin:
But they are in peace.
4 For even if in the sight of men they be punished,
Their hope is full of immortality;
5 And having borne a little chastening, they shall receive great good;
Because God made trial of them, and found them worthy of himself.
6 As gold in the furnace he proved them,
And as a whole burnt offering he accepted them.

8 They shall judge nations, and have dominion over peoples; And the Lord shall reign over them for evermore.
9 They that trust on him shall understand truth, And * the faithful shall abide with him in love; Because grace and mercy are to his chosen.

10 But the ungodly shall be requited even as they reasoned, They which lightly regarded † the righteous man, and revolted from the Lord;
11 (For he that setteth at nought wisdom and discipline is miserable;) And void is their hope and their toils unprofitable, And useless are their works:
12 Their wives are foolish, and wicked are their children;
13 Accursed is their begetting. Because happy is the barren that is undefiled, She who hath not conceived in transgression; She shall have fruit when God visiteth souls.
14 And happy is the eunuch which hath wrought no lawless deed with his hands, Nor imagined wicked things against the Lord; For there shall be given him for his faithfulness ‡ a peculiar favour, And a lot in the sanctuary of the Lord more delightsome than wife or children.
15 For good labours have fruit of great renown; And the root of understanding cannot fail.

And at the last their old age shall be without honour.
And if they die quickly, they § shall have no hope,
Nor in the day of decision shall they have consolation.
For  the end of an unrighteous generation is alway grievous.

Better than this is childishness with virtue;
For in the memory * of virtue is immortality:
Because it is recognised both before God and before men.
When it is present, men imitate it;
And they long after it when it is departed:
And † throughout all time it marcheth crowned in triumph,
Victorious in the strife for the prizes that are undefiled.

But the multiplying brood of the ungodly shall be of no profit,
And § with bastard § slips they shall not strike deep root,
Nor shall they establish a sure hold.

For even if these  put forth boughs and flourish for a season,
Yet, standing unsure, they shall be shaken by the wind,
And by the violence of winds they shall be rooted out.

Their branches shall be broken off before they come to maturity,
and their fruit shall be useless,
Never ripe to eat, and fit for nothing.

But a righteous man, though he die before his time, shall be at rest.
(For honourable old age is not that which standeth in length of time,
Nor is its measure given by number of years:
But understanding is gray hairs unto men,
And an unspotted life is ripe old age.)
Being found well-pleasing unto God he was beloved of him,
And while living among sinners he was translated:
He was caught away, lest wickedness should change his understanding,
Or guile deceive his soul.
(For the bewitching of naughtiness bedimmeth the things which are good,
And the giddy whirl of desire perverteth an innocent mind.)
Being made perfect in a little while, he fulfilled long years;
For his soul was pleasing unto the Lord:
Therefore hasted he out of the midst of wickedness.

The Wisdom Of Solomon 4:16

16 But a righteous man that is dead shall condemn the ungodly that are living,
And youth that is quickly perfected the many years of an unrighteous man’s old age;
17 For the ungodly shall see a wise man’s end,
And shall not understand what the Lord purposed concerning him,
And for what he safely kept him:-
18 They shall see, and they shall despise;
But them the Lord shall laugh to scorn.
And after this they shall become a dishonoured carcase,
And a reproach among the dead for ever:
19 Because he shall dash them speechless to the ground,
And shall shake them from the foundations,
And they shall lie utterly waste, and they shall be in anguish,
And their memory shall perish.

20 They shall come, * when their sins are reckoned up,
with coward fear;
And their lawless deeds shall convict them to their face.

1 Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness
Before the face of them that afflicted him,
And them that make his labours of no account.
2 When they see * it, they shall be troubled with terrible fear,
And shall be amazed at the marvel of God’s salvation.
3 They shall say † within themselves repenting,
And for distress of spirit shall they groan,

This was he whom aforetime we had in derision,
And made a parable of reproach:
4 We fools accounted his life madness,
And his end without honour:
5 How was he numbered among sons of God?
And how is his lot among saints?
6 Verily we went astray from the way of truth,
And the light of righteousness shined not for us,
And the sun rose not for us.
7 We took our fill of the paths of lawlessness and destruction,
And we journeyed through trackless deserts,
But the way of the Lord we knew not.
8 What did our arrogancy profit us?
And what good have riches and vaunting brought us?
9 Those things all passed away as a shadow,
And as a message that runneth by:
10 As a ship passing through the billowy water,
Whereof, when it is gone by, there is no trace to be found,
Neither pathway of its keel in the billows:
11 Or as when a bird flieth through the air,
No token of her passage is found,
But the light wind, lashed with the stroke of her pinions,
And rent asunder with the violent rush of the moving wings, is passed through,
And afterwards no sign of her coming is found therein:
12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a mark,
The air disparted closeth up again immediately,
So that men know not where it passed through:
13 So we also, as soon as we were born, ceased to be;
And of virtue we had no sign to shew,
But in our wickedness we were utterly consumed.
Because the hope of the ungodly man is as chaff carried by the wind,
And as foam vanishing before a tempest;
And is scattered as smoke by the wind,
And passeth by as the remembrance of a guest that tarrieth but a day.

But the righteous live for ever,
And in the Lord is their reward,
And the care for them with the Most High.
Therefore shall they receive the crown of royal dignity
And the diadem of beauty from the Lord’s hand;
Because with his right hand shall he cover them,
And with his arm shall he shield them.
He shall take his jealousy as complete armour,
And shall make the whole creation his weapons for vengeance on his enemies:
He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate,
And shall array himself with judgement unfeigned as with a helmet;
He shall take holiness as an invincible shield,
And he shall sharpen stern wrath for a sword:
The world shall go forth with him to fight against his insensate foes.
Shafts of lightning shall fly with true aim,
And from the clouds, as from a well drawn bow, shall they leap to the mark.

And so shall lawlessness make all the land desolate,
And their evil-doing shall overturn the thrones of princes.

Because a stern judgement befalleth them that be in high place:
6 For the man of low estate may be pardoned in mercy,
But mighty men shall be ‡ searched out mightily.
7 For the Sovereign Lord of all will not refrain himself for any man’s person,

12 Wisdom is radiant and fadeth not away;
And easily is she beheld of them that love her,
And found of them that seek her.
13 She forestalleth them that desire to know her, making herself first known. 14 He that riseth up early to seek her shall have no toil,
For he shall find her sitting at his gates.
15 For to think upon her is perfectness of understanding,
And he that watcheth for her sake shall quickly be free from care.
16 Because she goeth about, herself seeking them that are worthy of her,
And in their paths she appeareth unto them graciously,
And in every purpose she meeteth them.
17 For §§ her true beginning is desire of discipline;
And the care for discipline is love of her;

And love of her is observance of her laws; And to give heed to her laws confirmeth incorruption; And incorruption bringeth near unto God; So then desire of wisdom promoteth to a kingdom. If therefore ye delight in thrones and sceptres, ye princes of peoples, Honour wisdom, that ye may reign for ever. But what wisdom is, and how she came into being, I will declare, And I will not hide mysteries from you; But I will trace her out from the beginning of creation, And bring the knowledge of her into clear light, And I will not pass by the truth; Neither indeed will I take pining envy for my companion in the way, Because envy shall have no fellowship with wisdom. But a multitude of wise men is salvation to the world, And an understanding king is tranquillity to his people. Wherefore be disciplined by my words, and thereby shall ye profit.

I myself also am mortal, like to all, And am sprung from one born of the earth, the man first formed, And in the womb of a mother was I moulded into flesh in the time of ten months, Being compacted in blood of the seed of man and pleasure that came with sleep. And I also, when I was born, drew in the common air,
And fell upon the † kindred earth,
Uttering, like all, for my first voice, the selfsame wail:

4 In swaddling clothes was I nursed, and ‡ with watchful cares.

5 For no king had any other first beginning;
6 But all men have one entrance into life, and a like departure.

7 For this cause I prayed, and understanding was given me:
I called upon God, and there came to me a spirit of wisdom.

8 I preferred her before sceptres and thrones,
And riches I esteemed nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I liken to her any priceless gem,
Because all the gold of the earth in her presence is a little sand,
And silver shall be accounted as clay before her.

10 Above health and comeliness I loved her,
And I chose to have her rather than light,
Because her bright shining is never laid to sleep.

11 But with her there came to me all good things together,
And in her hands innumerable riches:

12 And I rejoiced over them all because wisdom leadeth them;
Though I knew not that she was the § mother of them.

13 As I learned without guile, I impart without grudging;
I do not hide her riches.

14 For she is unto men a treasure that faileth not,
And they that use it  obtain friendship with God,

But to me may God give to speak with judgement, And to conceive thoughts worthy of what hath been given me; Because himself is one that guideth even wisdom and that correcteth the wise.

For in his hand are both we and our words; All understanding, and all acquaintance with divers crafts. For himself gave me an unerring knowledge of the things that are, To know the constitution of the world, and the operation of the elements; The beginning and end and middle of times, The alternations of the solstices and the changes of seasons, The circuits of years and the positions of stars; The natures of living creatures and the ragings of wild beasts, The violences of winds and the thoughts of men, The diversities of plants and the virtues of roots: All things that are either secret or manifest I learned, For she that is the artificer of all things taught me, even wisdom.

For there is in her a spirit quick of understanding, holy, Alone in kind, manifold, Subtil, freely moving, Clear in utterance, unpolluted, Distinct, unharmed, Loving what is good, keen, unhindered, Beneficent, loving toward man,
Stedfast, sure, free from care,
All-powerful, all-surveying,
And penetrating through all spirits
That are quick of understanding, pure, most subtil:
24 For wisdom is more mobile than any motion;
Yea, she pervadeth and penetrateth all things by reason of her pureness.
25 For she is a $\text{§§§}$ breath of the power of God,
And a clear effluence of the glory of the Almighty;
Therefore can nothing defiled find entrance into her.
26 For she is an effulgence from everlasting light,
And an unspotted mirror of the working of God,
And an image of his goodness.
27 And she, being one, hath power to do all things;
And remaining in herself, reneweth all things:
And from generation to generation passing into holy souls
She maketh men friends of God and prophets.
28 For nothing doth God love save him that dwelleth with wisdom.
29 For she is fairer than the sun,
And above $^*$ all the constellations of the stars:
Being compared with light, she is found to be $^*$ before it;
30 For $^+$ to the light of day succeedeth night,
But against wisdom evil doth not prevail;

1 But she $^*$ reacheth from one end of the world to the other with full strength,
And ordereth all things $^+$ graciously.

5 But if riches are a desired possession in life,

7 And if a man loveth righteousness,
The fruits of wisdom’s labour are virtues,
For she teacheth soberness and understanding, righteousness and courage;
And there is nothing in life for men more profitable than these.
8 And if a man longeth even for much experience,

And with thee is wisdom, which knoweth thy works, and was present when thou wast making the world, and which understandeth what is pleasing in thine eyes, and what is right according to thy commandments.

Send her forth out of the holy heavens, and from the throne of thy glory bid her come, that being present with me she may toil with me, and that I may learn what is well-pleasing before thee.

For she knoweth all things and hath understanding thereof, and in my doings she shall guide me in ways of soberness, and she shall guard me in her glory.

And so shall my works be acceptable, and I shall judge thy people righteously, and I shall be worthy of my father’s throne.

For what man shall know the counsel of God? Or who shall conceive what the Lord willeth?

For the thoughts of mortals are timorous, and our devices are prone to fail.

For a corruptible body weigheth down the soul,
And the earthy frame lieth heavy on a mind that ††† is full of cares.

16 And hardly do we ‡‡‡ divine the things that are on earth,

1 * Wisdom guarded to the end the first formed father of the world, that was created alone,

And when for his cause the earth was drowning with a flood, Wisdom again saved it, Guiding the righteous man’s course by a poor piece of wood.

Moreover, when nations consenting together in wickedness had been confounded, † Wisdom knew the righteous man, and preserved him blameless unto God, And kept him strong when his heart yearned toward his child.

Wisdom delivered a holy people and a blameless seed from a nation of oppressors.
She entered into the soul of a servant of the Lord, and withstood terrible kings in wonders and signs.
She rendered unto holy men a reward of their toils; She guided them along a marvellous way,
And became unto them a covering in the day-time, And a flame of stars through the night.
She brought them over the Red sea, And led them through much water;
But their enemies she drowned, And out of the bottom of the deep she cast them up.
Therefore the righteous spoiled the ungodly; And they sang praise to thy holy name, O Lord, And extolled with one accord thy hand that fought for them:
Because wisdom opened the mouth of the dumb, And made the tongues of babes to speak clearly.

She prospered their works in the hand of a holy prophet.
They journeyed through a desert without inhabitant, And in trackless regions they pitched their tents.
They withstood enemies, and * repelled foes.
They thirsted, and they called upon thee, And there was given them water out of † the ‡ flinty rock, And healing of their thirst out of the hard stone.

But those, as a stern king, condemning them, thou didst search out.
11 Yea and whether they were far off from the righteous or near them, they were alike distressed;
12 For a double grief took hold on them, And a groaning at the remembrance of things past.

8 Nevertheless even these thou didst spare as being men,
And thou sentest hornets as forerunners of thy host,
To cause them to perish by little and little;
9 Not that thou wast unable to subdue the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battle,
Or by terrible beasts or by one stern word to make away with them at once;
10 But judging them by little and little thou gavest them a place of repentance,
Not being ignorant that their nature by birth was evil, and their wickedness inborn,
And that their manner of thought would in no wise ever be changed,

That thou mightest shew unto him that thou didst not judge unrighteously:

14 Neither shall king or prince be able to look thee in the face to plead for those whom thou hast punished.

15 But being righteous thou rulest all things righteously, Deeming it a thing alien from thy power To condemn one that doth not himself deserve to be punished.

16 For thy strength is the beginning of righteousness,
And thy sovereignty over all maketh thee to forbear all.

17 For when men believe not that thou art perfect in power, thou shewest thy strength,

 And †† in dealing with them that know it thou puttest their boldness to confusion.

18 But thou, being sovereign over thy strength, judgest in gentleness,
And with great forbearance dost thou govern us;

19 But thou didst teach thy people by such works as these, How that the righteous must be a lover of men;
And thou didst make thy sons to be of good hope,

12 For the devising of idols was the beginning of fornication, And the invention of them the corruption of life: 13 For neither were they from the beginning, neither shall they be for ever; 14 For by the vaingloriousness of men they entered into the world, And therefore was a speedy end devised for them.

15 For a father worn with untimely grief, Making an image of the child quickly taken away, Now honoured him as a god which was then a dead man, And delivered to those that were under him mysteries and solemn rites.

4 For neither did ‡ the dark recesses that held them guard them from fears, But sounds § rushing down rang around them, And phantoms appeared, cheerless with unsmiling faces.
5 And no force of fire prevailed to give them light, Neither were the brightest flames of the stars strong enough to illumine that gloomy night:
6 But only there appeared to them the glimmering of a fire self-kindled, full of fear; And in terror they deemed the things which they saw To be worse than that sight, on which they could not gaze.  And they lay helpless, made the sport of magic art, And a shameful rebuke of their vaunts of understanding:

The Wisdom Of Solomon 17:8

1 For they that promised to drive away terrors and troubblings from a sick soul,
These were themselves sick with a ludicrous fearfulness:
9 For even if no troublous thing affrighted them,
Yet, scared with the creepings of vermin and hisings of serpents,
10 they perished †† for very trembling,
Refusing even to look on the air, which could on no side be escaped.
11 ‡‡ For wickedness, condemned by a witness within, is a coward thing,
And, being pressed hard by conscience, always §§ forecasteth the worst lot:
12 For fear is nothing else but a surrender of the succours which reason offereth;
13 And from within the heart the expectation of them being less
Maketh of greater account the ignorance of the cause that bringeth the torment.
14 But they, all through the night which was powerless indeed,
And which came upon them out of the recesses of powerless Hades,
All sleeping the same sleep,
15 Now were haunted by monstrous apparitions,
And now were paralysed by their soul’s surrendering;
For fear sudden and unlooked for  came upon them.
16 So then every man, whosoever it might be, sinking down ††† in his place,

Was kept in ward shut up in that prison which was barred not with iron:

17 For whether he were a husbandman, or a shepherd,
Or a labourer whose toils were in the wilderness,
He was overtaken, and endured that inevitable necessity,
For with one chain of darkness were they all bound.

18 Whether there were a whistling wind,
Or a melodious noise of birds among the spreading branches,
Or a measured fall of water running violently,
19 Or a harsh crashing of rocks hurled down,
Or the swift course of animals bounding along unseen,
Or the voice of wild beasts harshly roaring,
Or an echo rebounding from the hollows of the mountains,
All these things paralysed them with terror.

20 For the whole world beside was enlightened with clear light,
And was occupied with unhindered works;
21 While over them alone was spread a heavy night,
An image of the darkness that should afterward receive them;
But yet heavier than darkness were they unto themselves.

1 But for thy holy ones there was great light;
And the Egyptians, hearing their voice but seeing not their form,
Counted it a happy thing that they too had suffered,
2 Yet for that they do not hurt them now, though wronged by them before, they are thankful;
And because they had been at variance with them, they made supplication to them.

17:19 Or, a hollow
Whereas thou didst provide for thy people a burning pillar of fire,
To be a guide for their unknown journey,
And withal a kindly sun for their proud exile.

For well did the Egyptians deserve to be deprived of light and imprisoned by darkness,
They who had kept in close ward thy sons,
Through whom the incorruptible light of the law was to be given to the race of men.

After they had taken counsel to slay the babes of the holy ones,
And when a single child had been cast forth and saved to convict them of their sin,
Thou tookest away from them their multitude of children,
And destroyest all their host together in a mighty flood.

Of that night were our fathers made aware beforehand,
That, having sure knowledge, they might be cheered by the oaths which they had trusted:

So by thy people was expected salvation of the righteous and destruction of the enemies;
For as thou didst take vengeance on the adversaries,
By the same means, calling us unto thyself, thou didst glorify us.

For holy children of good men offered sacrifice in secret,
And with one consent they took upon themselves the covenant of the divine law,

That  they would partake alike in the same good things and the same perils;

The fathers already leading the sacred songs of praise.

10 But there sounded back in discord the cry of the enemies,

††† And a piteous voice of lamentation for children was borne abroad.

11 And servant along with master punished with a like just doom,
And commoner suffering the same as king,

12 Yea, all the people together, under one form of death,

Had with them corpses without number;

For the living were not sufficient even to bury them,

Since at a single ‡‡‡ stroke their §§§ nobler offspring was consumed.

13 For while they were disbelieving all things by reason of the enchantments,
Upon the destruction of the firstborn they confessed the people to be God’s son.

14 For while peaceful silence enwrapped all things,
And night in her own swiftness was in mid course,

15 Thine all-powerful word leaped from heaven out of* the royal † throne,

A stern warrior, into the midst of the ‡ doomed land,

And standing it filled all things with death;
And while it touched the heaven it trode upon the earth.

Then forthwith apparitions in dreams terribly troubled them,
And fears came upon them unlooked for.
And each, one thrown here half dead, another there,
Made manifest wherefore he was dying:
For the dreams, perturbing them, did foreshew this,
That they might not perish without knowing why they were afflicted.

But it § befell the righteous also to make trial of death,
And a multitude were stricken in the wilderness:
Howbeit the wrath endured not for long.
For a blameless man hasted to be their champion:
Bringing the weapon of his own ministry,
Even prayer and the propitiation of incense,
He withstood the indignation, and set an end to the calamity,
Shewing that he was thy servant.

And he overcame the  anger,
Not by strength of body, not by efficacy of weapons;
But †† by word did he subdue ‡‡ the minister of punishment,

5 And that thy people might journey on by a marvellous road,
But they themselves might find a strange death.

6 For the whole creation, each part in its several kind, was fashioned again anew,
Ministering to thy several commandments,
That thy servants might be guarded free from hurt.
7 Then was beheld the cloud that shadowed the camp,
And dry land rising up out of what before was water,
Out of the Red sea an unhindered highway,
And a grassy plain out of the violent surge;
8 By which they passed over with all their hosts,
These that were covered with thy hand,
Having beheld strange marvels.

9 For like horses they roamed at large,
And they skipped about like lambs,
Praising thee, O Lord, who wast their deliverer.
10 For they still remembered the things that came to pass in the time of their sojourning,
How that instead of bearing cattle the land brought forth lice,
And instead of fish the river cast up a multitude of frogs.

11 But afterwards they saw also a new race of birds,
When, led on by desire, they asked for luxurious dainties;
12 For, to solace them, there came up for them quails from the sea.

And upon the sinners came the punishments
Not without the tokens that were given ‡‡‡ beforehand by the force of the thunders;

For §§§ grievous indeed was the hatred which they practised toward guests.

For whereas the men of Sodom received not †‡ the strangers when they came among them;

And not only so, but God shall § visit  the men of Sodom after another sort,
Since they received as enemies them that were aliens;
Whereas these first welcomed with feastings,
And then afflicted with dreadful toils,
Them that had already shared with them in the same rights.
And moreover they were stricken with loss of sight
(Even as were those others at the righteous man’s doors),
When, being compassed about with yawning darkness,
They sought every one the passage through his own door.
For as the notes of a psaltery vary the character of the rhythm,
Even so did the elements, changing their order one with another,
Continuing always the same, each in its several sound;
